July 2011

To design a modern but hard wearing open plan space that will age well and last for the next 20 years.

BRITISH LEAD

London

By KLC

British Lead have an impressive lead production and recycling facility near St Albans in Hertfordshire. Back in the early 1980s part of their warehouse was converted into offices but up until now had not been updated. KLC's brief was simple, to create a light open plan space that is both practical and modern and will not date quickly.

The solution was natural tones mixed with modern hard wearing materials to withstand the next twenty years of use.

A complete strip-out, followed by KLC's design, build and furnish service including washrooms, breakout, M&E, exterior windows and signage.

A very successful project completed in just 12 weeks.
